Even with those hard times, the hard work and determination that was done has not gone unnoticed still today, in the school year 2008-2009.

ince the end of the Civil War, Pocahontas County Schools has grown to just one family. Starting out with approximately 149 different schools after the Civil War, including 2 African American schools, our schools have combined to just make one. Since then, those 149 different schools have been destroyed abandoned. Finally, on May 14, 1968, the citizens The sale waters County. West Virginia. bonded themselves to the fullest potential of $1,195,000 to begin a building program CONSTRUCT, furnish, and equip a central high school for the County. The new "family" combined the former Green Bank, Hillsboro, and Marlinton High Schools and brought our high school students together for an enlarged and more inclusive program.

With these three major schools being rivals and having many disputes against each other, they came proudly together to form one breathing student body instead of three disputing schools.

students prepare for the future and help students to attend college.

As the first day of the 2008-2009 school year started. everything smoothly going until the students the final heard exam. exemption was taken away. Many students were disappointed, but they still moved on. The school year continued with the seniors excited to graduate and the juniors becoming seniors.

With P.C.H.S. excelling in both academics and sports, we have truly grown in these long years of hard work and planto continue. Students still show their school spirit, which has been presented over the 39 years of P.C.H.S. history and hope to continue it over the upcoming years.

Fres...Sorry. mores continued to start the 2008 school year with smiling faces, bummed but smiling, Memories of exciting summer moments and new summer romances were still our rendy in the air Your high school suraners are most certainly some of the best. Many sophic mores were cager to teturn to Pocahontas County High School, ready for another year. Meeting old. friends, and making new, the first day of school was a Flast With major academic desicions ahead, many were also deciding class makers and determining three-year plans. Students prepared for the Plan Test and West Virginia Writing Assessment The sophomores now had an educated handle on high school and were no longer took es. Despite all the new responsibilities of being a sophomore, they also had to begin fund-raising for premand graduation. All upperclassmen know the importance of fund-raising. With new sports under considcration, they also contemplated the option of becoming part of a Warrior team The sophomores finally got the hang of high school and their new freedoms. All in all, the sophomores were extremely grateful that they weren't freshmen anymore he school years are dways changing. and ne year n high school would be complete without the freshman class. Every year new students arrive ready to earn and leery of what a ch be mead of them in the future, but everything ends up fine. Now no longer middle schoolers, the new high servol students are ready to start their path to the fittire. The treshmen put forth a great effect at their first Homecoming. They played hard at powderpart toorball and worked well together designing the tresamen board. ballerin treshmen received an "A" ten effort, after failing shert from victory Of course the freshmen also had another task to face, fundraising' The freshmen came in second place during the paone cards for troops handraising. One would say that though these students are p st youth they are quickly growing up and seeing what the world is really like The tresl men ended up being like the trespines at the past, but they all have proven their capabilities to adjust to new expectations that high school life brings ригрозе for students coming Learning and discovering new things is what all the teachers want their students to achieve. By being a student at PCHS, it is not difficult to choose a class because they are so limited. Of course students have to take the required core classes: English, Math, Science, History, P.E., and Health in order to fu.fr! graduation requirements Students must also fu till career cluster requirements, and seniors have to complete 72 hours of workbased learning experience Whether the student profers vocational Instruction cademics is the music art, to lege courses, or business, many different options exist depending upon the student. With many opportunities for students to go above and beyond what is required. some students seem to take the easy road out and only do what is required of them. If the student plans on furthering his or her education following high school, it is very crucial to sign up for masses that will better prepare them for their post-secondary education. Students need to realize what you give is what you get and what you get is what you give" and then hopefully they will become talented, well-rounded adults

he West Virginia High School Rodeo Association is an argan into this many sudents at VHS are untamiliar with Astronyth for a brushlar discussion. The members of this association. The WAHSRA competes with 44 states as well as Australia and Canada. The members of WAHSRA participate in rodeos locally, distates and in neighboring states.

with the goal of making it to the National High School Finals Roden. Last summer, Nationals were held in Farmington. New Mexico, in which Karetynn Bevenige, Nicole Barlow, Stacy M. Parers, and Payton Minio ill competed in various events. The events that are offered to members of WVHSRA include goat, poles, barrels, down roping team roping, bulls, steer wrestling, breakaway, and chure dogging. All the events are scored by a point system which is totaled after each rodes. Members may show out their talent and abilities with one or more of these events. Also these PCHS participants show off their leadership by having held the positions as student office. Katelyan Beyenize was the

'09 President, Stocy McPaters with the '08 - '09 Secretary, and Payron Marin was the '08 - '09 Queen. The newest member of the WVHSRA is Mawhew Faulkmer, who joined in the summer of 2008. All the riders put many hours in procincing and preparing for the wild rides at the rodeos in hopes of finishing at the rop of their game.

Behind the Smoke

Volume #39 "Smoke Signals"

Printed by: Fox Photographics

Fox Representative: Thomas Treadway

Advisor: Cammy Kesterson Editors: Miranda Wilfong & John Gibb

earbook class was always a fun and crazy place to be. It was the bub of excitement on a daily basis. Students could always be found taking pictures, creating layouts, making corrections and attending many events to get the scoop on the current happenings with Pocahontas County High School students. This year was especially exciting for the 2009 Warrior yearbook staff. It would be the first year that the yearbook would be in complete color. This gave our staff a great deal of freedom. in the design of the book. The staff chose to bring some old to the new by the decision to name the yearbook after the old school newspaper "Smoke Signals." This also inspired the staff to create layouts with a newspaper theme with a modern twist. Likewise, a major change that the staff took in producing the yearbook was neorganizing the pages to flow accordingly. Not to forget, a new institutive that the yearbook staff members took to make their presence known throughout the school and extra curricular events was through creating staff shirts representing our theme. Overall, it's been a fresh and reinventing year behind the busy doors of yearbook. The bor has been raised and this act might be a tough one to follow.

Letters from the Editors

WOW!! What an amazing year. Being an editor has really been quite a challenge and responsibility. There always seemed to be a heavy weight on my shoulders to produce the perfect yearbook. The staff members and myself had our difficult times, but we worked through it and achieved our goals at the end with a smile and a laugh. I am very thankful that the staff pulled together in the end and made our yearbook a success. To the Warrior staff of 2010, I wish you the best of luck and remember time management and organization is key.

John Gibb

There are a lot of challenges and issues that the yearbook staff is faced with during the making of every new yearbook. It's a long process and the drama, computer malfunctions, writer's block, and the occasional slump days were some of the more frequent struggles that had to be overcome in order to meet the creeping deadlines. Even then, not every deadline is met. It's been a memorable experience being a part of the yearbook staff these past two years, and it still amazes me every year when everyond pulls together and all the creativity blocks misunderstandings and personal battles are put behind. It's been a great privilege of mine being yearbook editor and the knowledge that I have gained from this position is unlimited it's been a great year a great success Always.
